OUTDOOR LIVING

BLENDING INDOOR & OUTDOOR LIVING

Our gardens, terraces, courtyards and balconies are serving greater purposes than ever before, dutifully doubling up as home offices, gyms and yoga studios, private sanctuaries, and year-round al-fresco gathering spots.

As we approach the beginning of a new year, our thoughts will be turning again to these spaces and how we create beautifully designed, inviting and usable outdoor living environments. Creating a natural flow between indoor and outdoor is the inspiration behind our extended Outdoor Collection, to provide our clients with the same statement appeal of our trademark indoor texture and materiality.

Specially formed from high performance materials, including teak, and marble, to powdered aluminium, we have updated our most popular pieces and added new editions, including our coveted Aurora Coffee Table and new Sol Chaise, to make them exquisitely al-fresco ready.

Bespoke outdoor grade upholstery options make our collection of chaise, dining chairs and sofas ideal for poolside, family homes and yachts. Custom options are available for all outdoor furniture, including any RAL colour.

Still under a decade young, we are fortunate to now have showrooms in both London and New York, and we have sent furniture to many countries across the world. I feel so proud to have created furniture that appeals to many cultures and nationalities... there are no boundaries.

I founded FBC London out of a passion to create unique pieces of furniture. Using the ever changing textures, colours and patterns that nature provides combined with my life journey and experiences. Places I have been, buildings and things I have seen are a main source of inspiration and influence. Each of our pieces are individual and have a story of their own. You can feel the quality, time and creativity that has been invested in each and every piece.

We take time to select the most talented and conscientious artisans to carefully craft our designs into reality. Using a combination of traditional and modern manufacturing methods seamlessly joined to create these pieces of art. We like to think of them as antiques of the future. Timeless in their design, expertly hand crafted in their construction and distinctive in their finishes.

We are also proud to have all of our furniture manufactured exclusively in the United Kingdom and Europe. Conscious of the environment we aim to use sustainable materials and reduce our carbon footprint where possible.

We are thrilled to be launching a comprehensive first collection of outdoor furniture. The philosophy behind our collection is hybrid pieces that are for use in both indoor and outdoor environments. We envisaged the breaking of boundaries between these spaces. A seamless transition from internal and external spaces is possible by providing the continuity of luxury high performance materials and finishes that would usually be associated with only interior pieces of furniture.
